He is being carefully nursed by friends, and we hear is temproving. Stack Lee is too good a man to be prostrated by sickness from his usefulness in the river commerce of Memphis.

With all our vigilance we were the victim of a huge apri fool joke resterday. We were invited to a steamb at rice to the compress cotton wharf at the mouth of Wolf. It took just one hour and three-quarters, steady pulling against wind and tide, to make the trip. We are hired to suppress name of all caperned. The legislative council's attention is called to the all concerned. The boat's par suffered.

The legislative council's attention is called to the fact that the plank warks on Court and Monroe streets are in a dangerous consition, and that a great deal less of the wharfage fund might be judiciously utilized in repairing them than it would take to pay damages in a suit for some disaster that is likely to occur in their present condition. Logos superities, etc. WOOD AND WILLOW-WARE SHERWOOD & CO. etc.

Notwithstanding the efforts of the smart Alecks yesterday, the harmless efforts of the Arpeal river chronicler to get up an April fool sell panned out handsomely. We claim no giory, but enjoyed the loke good-humoredly with our victims, and the gentlemen alloded to may hide their laces in shame at the failure of their efforts to "give us away." These is danger in trying to be smart once in a while, especially when one is not accustomed to it, as an overdone job is worse than one not well done. There's hellinthewind about mail and packet matters from Memohis down, and the most diligent search by this chronicler yesterday failed to develop what's up. There's a new deal, and if it takes all summer we will call the cards from the deck. We have made proper inquiries at headquarters that the correct statement might be given, and thus far have failed; and we hate to have to resort to the publication of all the stories affort. Our commercial interests are in jeopardy, and the APPEAL will give proper warning to our merchants. From present proper warning to our merchants.
